How the Government of Australia Denied Pastor Gino Jennings entry into its Country or did they?

Anyone who has been following Pastor Gino Jennings for even a short period of time knows that he does not bite his tongue nor compromises his stance on biblical principle. Having such a firm stance, creates enemies from secular and nonsecular communities alike. Therefore, it is no surprise for the message of holiness to be at the center of controversy yet again in the country of Australia!

"Follow me in the Bible," is a statement Pastor Jennings uses often. His bold tone and God-given knowledge is opening the eyes of many, causing them to wipe the dust off their bibles and do as the statement says. For a long time, people have simply taken the word of their pastors to be true, without considering if what they are taught is actually in the bible.

Pastor Jennings encourages everyone to question their pastors. As people give heed to this instruction, they have found out that in many cases preachers actually do not have any scriptures to support their statements. This has caused rifts in many homes and churches. To show how serious false statements contributed to the bible are, Pastor Jennings encourages people to leave those false churches.

The message of Holiness is spreading! Nonreligious people are even following the message of truth. Anyone who has heard the truth of God message must admit that it brings morals, ethics, and values that everyone with a conscious should be able to relate to. No topic is taboo when it comes to holiness. The message even covers such topics as the government, roles of parents, and the effects of the addiction to homosexuality.

The Strength in 'HER'

Empowerment of the beautiful WOMAN

Hi, my name is Naomi Fitzgerald and I am a visual artist. My goal as an artist is to empower and inspire people through my art. I want to send a message of empowerment to all the girls and women, especially of color. Many times, we feel like we are worthless and not good enough, but as women we are definitely the opposite. The first illustration on the right of the painting includes a black woman holding her baby. This was the original image I had in mind when I decided to create this piece. It takes courage and strength to be a mother and to take care of a child, making sure that he/she stays on the right path. Many times, motherhood can be stressful and painful, but it also comes with joy and happiness. This image also represents humbleness while showing Afrocentric pride through the wearing of her head wrap. She shows honor to God. In my mind, that's one of the best things you can do

Greetings in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ giving God thanks and double honour to the Prophets of old, double honour to the Apostles and double honour to our Apostle, Pastor Gino Jennings. I am grateful to God. One day I was on my way to Chicago (an 8-hour drive) with my false church. The pastor and his wife had us listening to Pastor Gino Jennings – “AM I RIGHT.” It really took me by surprise because they agreed with almost everything he was saying. I knew what I heard was the voice of God coming out of Pastor Jennings. When I got back home, I called my daughter and asked for her computer. Over a period of two (2) months I learned more about God than all my years going to church. I questioned God about certain things that those church members were doing that just didn't line up with scriptures. I told my husband I have to go and check this out for myself to see if it was real. I called First Church of our Lord Jesus Christ and left a message telling Pastor he had to come to Canada because of all the false prophets here. Within 20 minutes the phone rang and it was Pastor Jennings on the other line. Speaking with him I told him I was coming to the 25th international Holy Convocation. I then went to the old false church to question the pastor, elder, and minister. The pastor told me I was following a cult. Later that week, I took the Via-rail train to New York where I slept in Penn station for 12 hours. I missed my train and got another to Wilmington, Delaware where Sister Dawn picked me up. During my first visit to Headquarters, I met Mother Dorothy Williams from Whitby, Ontario who has been traveling between Canada and the United States since 1995 - except for the 5 years she took care of her mother (Mother Richardson), who started from the basement of Pastor Jennings' mother's house. During my first visit to Headquarters, I walked in and saw people on their faces praying; I mean everyone from the young to old. I cried and I repented. I couldn't believe what I was seeing, everyone crying out to God. I couldn't wait to tell everyone here in Canada what I saw and heard and how the Truth of God was coming out of Pastor Jennings. What an experience I had at that service. I knew that this was it and I couldn't go back to the false church. I had to get to Pastor to tell him we need him here in Canada because I had STOPPED going to the false church. I wrote letters every other day to get Pastor Jennings to consider coming to Canada. When I got back home I realized that I should have got baptized. It kept eating at my heart because the false churches added all of Acts

2:38; I just needed the name of Jesus Christ. Two month after returning, it was killing me. I couldn't sleep that I didn't get the right baptism. Again in October, I told my husband that I had to go back to United States to get right with God. I then got baptized on October 26, 2013 in Atlanta, Georgia. When I got home from that trip, I called Pastor Jennings. I continued to write letters telling Pastor how much we need him here. I prayed and cried out to God not to forget us here in Canada. One day I called Pastor Jennings and he told me to find a place to hold meetings. By that time, I was home every day calling and looking. We found a place but the dates were not good for Pastor Jennings. By March 2014, dates were set for our first meeting in which six (6) people went down in the name of Jesus Christ. Pastor Jennings told us to find a place so we can hold service every Sunday. I found a place for April 2014. Our first official meeting for First Church Toronto, Canada was April 27, 2014. Pastor Jennings sent Minister Jones for that service. One (1) was baptized. Since then, Brother Nicholas Brown from Atlanta, Georgia has been travelling to Toronto to preach God's Word. All praise is due unto God Almighty.

VISA DENIED

The Truth of God message is far-reaching and has gained the attention of many headlines and high-profile celebrities. One, in particular, is the famous Israel Folau. He was one of the highest-paid rugby players of the Qantas Wallabies of Australia, who, not too long ago, came under scrutiny for comments that he made on social media against homosexuality and other immoralities. These statements did not settle well with the team nor his sponsors. Because he unapologetically refused to compromise his faith, he was released from his team and lost his endorsements.

Israel had been following the Truth of God and had proclaimed Pastor Jennings as being his pastor. I can't say that Folau is the reason Pastor Jennings was not permitted to enter the country of Australia, but we are pretty sure that because of his fame and declaration of the faith, it has caused the government to investigate the doctrine of the Truth of God.

Pastor Jennings was scheduled to be in Perth and Sydney, Australia, October 11 thru November 3, 2019. Because of his frank stance against homosexuality, the government of Australia denied his visa while granting everyone who would have travelled with him permission. Pastor Jennings did not want to cancel the trip, so he sent Minister Steven Williams of Philadelphia and Minister William Etheridge of Detroit, Michigan in his place.

Brother Ron Skotleski, the video producer, suggested to Pastor Jennings to set up a screen on the stage at Headquarters to speak via live stream to the worshippers in Australia and Pastor agreed. This was a first for the Truth of God program. Due to the time difference, this turned out to be very tiresome. In relation to the Eastern Time zone, Perth, Australia is 12 hours ahead and Sydney, Australia is 15 hours ahead.

Although the people knew Pastor Jennings' visa was denied and he would not be attending services, they still came out. It was beautiful to see all the saints come out of town to pitch in wherever they could to make sure things ran smoothly. They assisted in the setup and breakdown of the rooms and with the baptismal candidates. Minister Williams helped also! I must say it was a bit strange to see Minister Williams lead devotion service and afterwards turn the service over to Pastor Jennings to live stream. Brother Mark Marinnie read for Pastor Jennings in Philadelphia, PA in the United States.

Needless to say, Minister Williams was ready, sitting on the edge of his seat while positioning his fingers in the Scriptures. He followed Pastor Jennings' lead as he was teaching and witnessing to the truth. Occasionally there were glitches in the video which caused it to freeze, but the people sat eagerly, patiently, and attentively until the kinks worked out. It was a beautiful thing to see the faces of people light up with excitement as to beckon him to preach and cheer him on with smiles, with tears of joy on their faces as if he was there physically. Also, I saw different ones give their testimonies of how the Word of God change their lives, sing songs of praises, and fellowship with one another. Even some pastors, who left the PAW organization to walk with the truth, came in with their congregation and now have become a part of the First Church of Our Lord Jesus Christ Inc. of Australia. In Perth, a small group from the LGBT community showed up for a silent protest but left without any incidents.

I must say this trip to Australia was an experience where a country is fighting against the Truth of God (my faith) for preaching what is right in the eyes of God. I have heard Pastor Jennings say that we would experience things like this with more to come but it's far different to witness it in person. Many times, our parents instructed and warned us of certain things which we now understand clearly since we have become older and matured. It was an eye-opening experience that I know we will see more of. But it was also an honor because I was able to travel for a worthy cause. I was able to meet people from the other side of the world who heard the message of truth, accepted it, and want to follow it just like me. I appreciated us being there as well as felt the sadness when we left.

Though the government of Australia did not allow Pastor Jennings into their country, the word of God was preached. A total of one hundred and ten (110) souls were baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Twenty-seven (27) in Perth, eighty-one (81) in Sydney, and two (2) at the headquarters temple in Philadelphia during the live stream services. Pastors were also baptized. Now, opportunities for future streamed services exist with requests pouring in already. If God is for us who can stop us? Nobody!

Currently, Australia does not have a temple. Therefore, some of the new members have taken it upon themselves to worship from house to house in Sydney, Cranbourne North, Melbourne, Australia. They listen to the telecast, sing, and testify to the greatness of Jesus Christ.

As of December 7, 2019, Israel Folau reached a settlement. The Rugby Association in Australia apologized for any hurt or harm caused to Israel Folau. Mr. Folau stated he looked forward to the federal government allowing legislation to protect freedom of speech and religion for all Australians (CBN News).

Please continue to keep the saints in Australia in your prayer.

BO KNOWS: RACE

Greetings all,

Let us reflect back to when we all were in 1st grade. We all sat around the teacher of the classroom and the teacher asked us all one simple question "what is a race?" I certainly would raise my hand swiftly to be the first the teacher would call. Also as children, we would line up on the wall, and one would say, "On your mark, get set, GO! Then we all would run to the end of the playground where the teacher was standing. With all my might, I tried to get there first. The purest of mind would take that same 1st grade scenario and apply it to the human family. Typically, the definitions of RACE are learned as we become of age. Imagination, competition, winners/losers, turning my head to watch whilst I run to make sure no one is ahead of me. If one is ahead of me, I increase my velocity motivated by you "beating me."

Now imagine, every move you make being potentially dictated by one's "hue" or "skin tone." Imagine, pride being so deep that it challenges and supersedes all things, that the very word can paralyze the whole nation. Yes, I am still talking about RACE. RACE has been a primary topic of life in America since day one. It has been used to demean, destroy, and to exalt. I likened it to two companies with the same product that wants to project why its product is the best. Not only does the company exalt its product but it demeans the product of the competitor in an attempt to best it. In 2019, we are still functioning within the clutch of RACE. In this writing, I reflect on diagnosis, process, and cure. To get the "glory" of the cure, I must first go through step one of the diagnosis. Many avoid this, seeing it as problematic, but I see it as something necessary. I never hear any complaints when the doctor uses a sharp object to cut into our flesh to operate. So why do we avoid this topic? We speak privately, but why is it that we refuse to speak as a collective? Within my school, we can endorse things like "affinity" groups for the purpose of all of a certain 'RACE.' But we refuse to have the same fiery conversation with all "RACES" in the room. By what criteria does one "RACE" become greater than the other? By what criteria does one "RACE" become less than? I am ready to walk with you in diving into all things concerning this subject that we may know what is at the very core of this thing called "RACE." On your mark, get set, Let's GO! BO KNOWS!

The Strength In Her

I was planning on stopping there, but as an artist, I knew it needed something more. So, my mind busted open with inspirations of another woman, this time with her eyes open and hair out. I chose this because as a young, African-American woman there are many pressures in the world to look like people in society. Why should we hide our wild, curly, puffy hair to fit in with the world? Why should we be ashamed of our dark skin? Why should we feel less than who we are? WE SHOULD'N'T! Therefore, I included four empowering words that I believe every woman should always keep in her heart and mind. We are STRONG, we are CONFIDENT, we are BEAUTIFUL, and we are DETERMINED. Even if some of us feel like we aren't at times, or admit that sometimes we slack in staying confident, we should always strive to keep our crowns on our heads and our heads held high. Whenever I look at the painting, I always see emotion in the young woman's eyes. In life we must make decisions and learn from our mistakes. Many of us have dreams and visions we want to realize. In whatever you wish to be successful in; whether it be school, a talent, or something else personal and spiritual, it's important to realize that not everything comes easy. I hope that these words have sent a positive message to many people. I'm so thankful for everyone's encouraging words in continuing with my art; I don't plan on stopping.

Healthy Eating

Greetings brothers and sisters,

I'm so grateful God has giving me the space and time to share something near and dear to my heart: health, consisting of fruits and vegetables, nuts, seeds, herbs, and never to forget wild edibles!

I first got into healthy eating and living when I was seven (7). My father and stepmother were strictly vegan and we healed ourselves when we got sick. It was a strong passion. It sunk deep in my heart when a neighbor down the street was sent home to die from cancer. The doctors said there was nothing else they could do. My dad and stepmom took it upon themselves to heal him naturally, through green juicing, and hot and cold water treatments. He completely recovered and the cancer was gone within a year. That was when I was around eight years old. Once I became a teenager, I moved back with my biological mother, who didn't know better than to let me eat what I wanted. I ate everything I could get my hands on! Soon to realize I was run down and sick a lot. Now that I have matured and have my own children, I have come back to a healthy way of life! My biological mother and I are both very eager to learn. She and I have done many cleanses and detoxed together!

When I was given the opportunity to write this article, so many ideas ran through my head. What do I write? Juicing or garlic and grapefruit for colds? Wild spruce needle and rosemary tea as a natural antidepressant, or healthy kids' meals and snacks my kids love? Then it hit me, my go-to, can't live without: smoothies! More specifically, green smoothies. I wanted something that could help anyone with anything, at any stage of their health journey. Everybody loves them. They are easy to make. You can't mess them up! You just add them to whatever diet routine you have at present. Why are smoothies with fruits and vegetables, the one topic I chose to write on?

In May 2016, a poll was conducted by NPR and Truven Health Analytics which surveyed a nationally representative sample of 3,000 U.S. adults. One question they asked was: how healthy would you consider your eating habits to be? About 75% of respondents ranked their diets as good, very good, or excellent. Yet 80% of Americans fail to eat the recommended amount of fruits and vegetables. So Americans really have no idea what a healthy diet is. According to a Harvard University study not eating enough fruits and vegetables can lead to many diseases such as heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, cancer, diabetes, weight gain, and gastrointestinal health! So where is a good place to start: green smoothies?! I make myself and my kids a smoothie in the morning. I use the following ingredients:

3-4 frozen bananas

1-2 cups fresh or frozen fruit (my favorite is pineapple, it hides any bitterness from the greens)

A handful of kale

A handful of spinach

One stalk of celery

Green powders (optional)

3 dates or a table spoon of honey (optional for sweetness)

Fill half way up or more with water and blend!

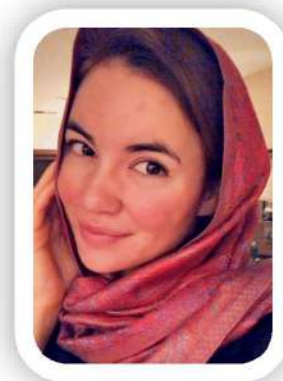

You can always mix it up and try new fruits and veggies or even simplify it! For breakfast my kids love to have their smoothie in a bowl, topped with some quick oats, nuts, seeds and a drizzle of maple syrup! I drink it plain or sometimes with oats. I love it both ways! I also always have green smoothie popsicles in the freezer at all times! My kids eat them almost every day!

Just adding this into your diet once a day, will feed the good gut flora in your digestive track. The good gut flora eat fiber from raw fruits and vegetables and 70 to 80% of our immune system is found in our digestive track! That's one of the many reasons it's so important to eat fruits and vegetables every day.

The more you know about fresh living foods and our amazing bodies, the more you will gravitate towards eating healthier foods! Learn something new about health once a week and try a new fruit and vegetable in the produce aisle! You'll be amazed at how your body reacts and don't forget to share the amazing new things you have learned about health with someone else!

Shopping Guide

Stores that Won't Break the Bank

SISTERS IN-STORE SHOPPING

Shopping in stores is difficult when trying to dress modestly. I am more successful with finding certain things online rather than in the stores.

For example, most maxi dresses that I've seen in stores have slits, see-through material, or extremely deep neckline. I don't want to go through the trouble of layering under jackets, sweaters, or another top beneath a dress. I would rather buy a dress that gives me full coverage.

For accessories, I usually go to clothing stores such as H & M, Forever 21, or Rue21. I can usually find cute hats and shoes that fit my style that aren't the same as everyone else.

Burlington Coat Factory also has some cute finds. They sell lovely watches, purses, and perfumes to compliment my outfits!

OTHER STORES

Charlotte Russe - Shoes

Anthropologie - Accessories

Urban Outfitter - Perfumes, shoes, etc.

Online:

Amazon - I tell everyone Amazon is a good place to purchase maxi dresses and skirts! You can choose from pleated, a-line, and jersey knit! They have cute, interesting patterns that you may not see in malls or stand-alone stores. Sometimes certain prints are only available in pants or rompers. If you aren't a skilled seamstress, you can check online for maxi dresses that may have the same patterns. Be on the lookout for Cyber Monday where you can save big on clothing, depending on what you are shopping for.

Slaydon and Rose - Another go-to website is this modest clothing site. I have to say if you're looking for a pocket dress look no further than Slaydon and Rose. Nothing says fashion like comfort! These dresses are so comfy and gives me the full coverage that I want.

Culture Hijab - I get my headscarves from Culture Hijab, which is a website that sells hijabs, underscarves, and clothing for women! You can choose from their regular sized scarves and the premium sized scarves, which give you a few more inches of material and a high-quality fabric. They offer a wide range of colors and prints for any occasion. If I'm in the mood to switch up my look, Forever 21 and H&M occasionally have nice hats for the winter and spring seasons.

OTHER SITES

Boohoo.com - Maxi dresses, Maxi skirts

UrbanOG.com - Shoes

Justfab.com - Shoes and Purses

Charming Charlie.com - Purses, watches, scarves, etc.

XOmaxiboutique.com - Fully lined maxi dresses and skirts

BROTHERS IN-STORE SHOPPING

Brothers can't go wrong with these stores. A few of them are in the mall and others are in outlet malls. They can find everything from watches to suits!

H&M - Suits and accessories

Suit Supply - Suits

Nordstrom's - Accessories such as hats

Fossil - Watches

Shoes - Macy's, K & G, DSW, Mezlan, Johnston and Murphy, Cole Hann, Saks Fifth Ave Online;

Ebay - Ties and Socks

Kiddies Corner: Mya's Take on Maya

Making black history relatable is something I know that I must do, especially when teaching my 3-year-old! Mya loves to learn new things so I try to teach her as much as I can and in that comes history.

To kick off black history month we looked at Maya Angelou. I chose her because I knew Mya would find it cool that someone shared the same name as she. As soon as I pulled out the book, she said "ooh mom, she is beautiful!" When I began to read her name, I watched as her face lit up and she looked like she was going to explode! She was trying to get it out but due to all the excitement she began to stutter and then, "MOM SHE IS LIKE ME, MY NAME IS MYA!"

As we read through the children's book on Maya Angelou, she had so many questions. She asked questions like, "Why does she have to live with her grandmother? Why don't people like her? She doesn't like to talk? What did she write? Does she like to sing at church like me mom?"

In answering her questions, I found that she was taking a liking to Maya Angelou because she too loves to write, draw and read. Mya enjoys singing at church just as Maya Angelou did in our story. When it came to talking about why people didn't like her, I explained that some people didn't like Maya because she had brown skin. That is when Maya was younger people who had brown skin were not treated nicely by some people who had lighter skin. Then the most amazing thing happened, Mya said "Mom I have brown skin like Maya Angelou. I have the same hair that's black. I smile like her too. She is beautiful mommy and I'm beautiful and Mo-Mo and mommy!" I couldn't help but smile because I never want her to be ashamed of the color of her skin. We strive to teach her that all skin is beautiful and as she has brown skin, that is extra beautiful!

I am excited to see what the future holds for Mya. After hearing that Maya Angelou was a cook, streetcar conductor, singer, poet, and writer, Mya asked if she could be an astronaut and a doctor and fireman! She didn't just choose ONE occupation, but three!

I feel that learning about Maya Angelou inspired Mya to be whatever she wants. That it is okay to not be stuck in just one job but to be whatever you want! I believe she also took away from our session that it is okay to read and write! To feel good about reading and writing and talking to other people. Remembering that she is unique, her skin is beautiful, and she can do anything!

Knowledge Corner

When the word Physics was first mentioned to me, I automatically thought of the structure of a matter, what it is comprised of and the reasons it may react in the way in which it does. I believe that after all the research is done that the researcher or scientist would have gotten his or her hypothesis based on their initial theory. It seemed to me that Physics involved a lot of mathematical calculations to provide logical explanations.

I don't have much background information on the actual science; however, I've heard some of my colleagues speaking passionately about the subject. I think that due to fear of the subject, other students reject Physics at the CXC level, then subsequently reject it again on to the tertiary level. Explaining why things happen requires extensive research and some persons may not have the analytical ability and the time for same and as such may avoid taking up a challenging subject or course such as Physics - which may require a lot of dedication.

After completing a Natural Science course, my perspective on Physics has now changed. I am now able to view the study of Physics without being condemnatory. I understand that Physics is a part of our natural life, furthermore, that it has contributed in numerous ways to the development of the operation of our daily lives. Through Physics, scientists have broken barriers such as using kinetic energy to produce electricity as practiced in Canada (Niagara Falls); machines are used to perform tasks that were once done by persons - an example of this is seen through the use of the washing machine.

Through one of my learning platforms, one of Isaac Newton's laws of motion remained in my thoughts, "every action has an equal and opposite reaction." This theory can definitely be seen in daily situations amongst our family and friends. Personally, I now see Physics as life.

In light of this, Physics is an essential part of the educational curriculum for secondary schools; it gives an insight on the way things function and reasons they function in that particular manner. To some secondary school students, it may not generate an interest, while for others may be curious about simple things such as the solar system - which is enough to make them pursue Physics at a higher level (tertiary level). If Physics is not pursued beyond secondary school, I believe that there would be a gap in the progress of technology.

In conclusion, I believe that the study of Physics is fundamental to the sustaining of our daily activities. For example, without Physics our health would deteriorate. I say this because daily we see new diseases developing and without the technology to do research it would be impossible to cure diseases or the time span may be longer. As such, Physics should not be overlooked as a science because of the positive impact the subject makes in our lifestyles.

Moving Forward

This year was definitely a big one. Through every struggle and hardship I can't forget all that was gained as well. This picture is nothing amazing in the sense that we aren't dressed up to worldly standards, nor was there anything that would be monumental to anyone other than us. This is a reminder that God is always on time and truth will find you if you only care to look and God shows up if you ask him to. In January 2019 I reached out to Pastor Jennings and the elders at first church to receive proper baptism in Jesus name through an email message after weighing on my heart for sometime and I was pushed that I needed it to be done soon. Not really expecting any responses as I've reached out to other churches before with none. I sent the email and the very next day I received a response from the temple in Philadelphia. Then a response from a fellow Pastor Bo in Oregon about him traveling to come do my baptism. His mother fell ill and wasn't able to come down as planned. I prayed vigilantly and soon God answered me again with Pastor Santana and some members of the location in California. Saying that they were traveling to Las Vegas to do baptisms and if I could make it there. I was starting to decline in health And wasn't able to make that trip. But God is good and they ended up coming all the way down to Wendover (6 hrs from Las Vegas) to perform mine. Where my husband and daughter decided to repent and be baptized as well. So after fellowship, a warm meal together, and speaking with the gentlemen that came to do God's work, in a portable Baptismal tub on our porch at 9:00 pm we went down in water in Jesus name together. Followed by more fellowship, prayer over the reconciliation of our marriage, family, children, and faith and Levi's leadership of our family and reconciliation along with singing out to the Lord in our home. It was by far my very favorite part of this year. Just two months later I started PD dialysis and could no longer be submerged in water. Our lives have continued to change for the better in many ways and we have continued to grow more in the Lord as we go and leave many old ways behind. We are not perfect and we still face things daily and will find ourselves in repentance on things here and there often through conviction, but we are very far from what and who we were. This is what I am most proud of from 2019 and I hope to only continue our path together and grow to be the people individually, and the family that God is proud of in this year to come and all that follow. God bless everyone this coming year with your own personal blessings and growth to look back on. 🙏

Power of YOUTUBE

I came to know about Pastor Gino Jennings through YouTube. I found myself watching more and more of his teachings on a daily basis. When possible I would follow the scriptures that were quoted and understood there was truth in his teachings. His teaching on the One God verses Trinitarian revealed truth to me. In all my experience of being in the church, the preaching has always been about the trinity.

When I heard Pastor Gino Jennings teaching on being saved I did not get the full revelation immediately. However, when I looked up how the Apostles in the book of Acts baptised in the name of Lord Jesus or Jesus Christ, it was undeniable that this was the name that a person had to be baptised in for the remission of sin. However, I could not remember whether I was baptized in the name of the Father, Son, Holy Spirit or Jesus Christ. I had the intention of going to Jerusalem this year and thought I could perhaps be baptized in the sea there. This matter continued to play on my mind and I was concerned about my fate if I died suddenly. This presented more questions in my mind. Within a short period of time, through research, I discovered that Pastor Gino Jennings was coming to a convocation in High Wycombe which I excitedly attended.

To my surprise, Pastor Gino Jennings made a call for baptism on the first night of the convocation to which I responded. My son also wanted to be baptised as he was in the same predicament as me. So on Saturday, the 23rd of June we took the opportunity to be baptised in the name of Jesus Christ. This, I believe was truly the mercy of God!
